Behold the Hen--- She Can Lay Eggs Worth 7c. a Shot !!!

Fresh Laid Eggs Selling at 85c. a dozen. A Little Care and Proper Feeding Forces a Hen to Lay and Pay.

Eggs are about the most profitable production possible on the farm at the present time. George Robertson, the poultry husbandman at the Dominion Experimental Station, Ottawa, gives the following suggestions toward the successful handling of a flock:

Elaborate houses are not necessary. The cheaper the house the better, provided it is light, well ventilated, dry and free from draughts. Birds should have lots of exercise. Supply a good, deep litter and make them work for all the whole grain fed. While green feed is always necessary, it is more so at this time than any other, as the change from free range to close quarters is great. Keep a hopper dry mash before the flock at all times. Equal parts of bran, middlings, cornmeal, finely ground oats and beef meal makes a good mash.

In the morning, feed scratch grain in the litter--cracked corn, wheat and oats, equal parts by measure, or some simpler mixture. This should be fed sparingly, just about a pint to 25 birds will be sufficient. At noon give green feed, sprouted oats, mangels or something similar; a little scratch grain may be scattered to start the birds to work. A moist mash may be fed at noon or in the evening, whichever is most convenient. A considerable portion of this moist mash should be greens. At night the flock should be given a full feed of scratch grain. The birds should have grit, oyster shell, charcoal and clean water before them at all times. If milk can be had mix the moist mash with it, also supply it as drink; if milk is not available keep a hopper of beef scrap before the flock.

In feeding, the endeavour should be to supply everything that is required to encourage the flock to consume as large a portion of mash feed as possible, as records show that increased production corresponds to increased consumption of mash.

Experience has shown that by using artificial light the production may be greatly increased at certain periods. George Ketchmark at Bow City had great success by the use of artificial light.

U. F. A. Speakers at Lomond and Midway on Dec. 13th.

Mrs. Welsh, of Gleichen, member of the U.F.W.A. political executive, and W.H. Hunter, district organizer of the U. F. A., will meet the Midway Local at a special session on Monday afternoon, Dec. 13th., at two o'clock. The objects and aims of the organization will be thoroughly dealt with. Both the men and women are urgently requested to be present.

Likewise at Lomond at 7:30 on the evening of the same day, Mrs. Welsh and Mr. Hunter will speak in the I. O. O. F. Hall, Lomond.

Institute Meeting Dec. 11th.

The Lomond Agricultural Society has arranged to hold another institute meeting on Saturday, Dec. 11th, commencing at 2:30 p.m. in the I.O.O.F. Hall. The principal speaker for the occasion will be Prof. Bodman, principal of the new provincial school of agriculture at Gleichen. The subject of his address will be "Conservation of Soil Moisture." The people of Lomond should be doubly interested in this topic, for upon the success of this depends the rise or collapse of Southern Alberta as a farming country.

"The New World"

(By Lloyd George)

"Millions of gallant young men have fought for the new world. Hundreds of thousands have died to establish it. If we fail to honor the promise given to them we dishonor ourselves. What does a new world mean? What was the old world like? It was a world where toil for myriads of honest workers, men and women, purchased nothing better than squalor, penury, anxiety and wretchedness—a world scarred by slums and disgraced by sweating, where unemployment through the vicissitudes of industry brought despair to multitudes of humble homes; a world where, side by side with want, there was waste of the inexhaustible riches of the earth, partly through ignorance and want of forethought, yearly through entrenched selfishness. Is we renew the lease of that world we shall betray the heroic dead. We shall be guilty of the basest perfidy that ever blackened a people's fame. Nay, we shall store up retribution for ourselves and for our children. The old world must and will come to an end. No effort can shore it up much longer. If there be any who feel inclined to maintain it, let them beware lest it fall upon them and overwhelm them and their households in ruin. It should be the sublime duty of all, without thought of partisanship, to help in building up the new world, where labor shall have its just reward and indolence alone shall suffer want."

NOTES

For fine open weather we have no recollection of even Southern Alberta ever producing anything to equal this year. The stock was never in better condition and what little feed reserves there were are practically untouched and there is considerable reflection in the hay market as a consequence. For the benefit of outside subscribers, we will add that there is no snow now nor has there been at any time this fall enough snow to make a sleigh track.

If we can foretell the outcome of the present economic crises, times will not be so gloomy in the course of three or four months. There is a general tendency of people actually desiring to work—in some cases no doubt through necessity—but actually a fact, nevertheless. The pendulum of labor control swung a little too far. But we must take care and not allow the reaction to become too great. Labor must be well paid, but it must also give conscientious service in return. To those who expect all prices to tumble and remain abnormally low, we can foresee nothing but disappointment. A general readjustment to about one-third below war level will probably be the extent of commercial deflation.
